Prologue

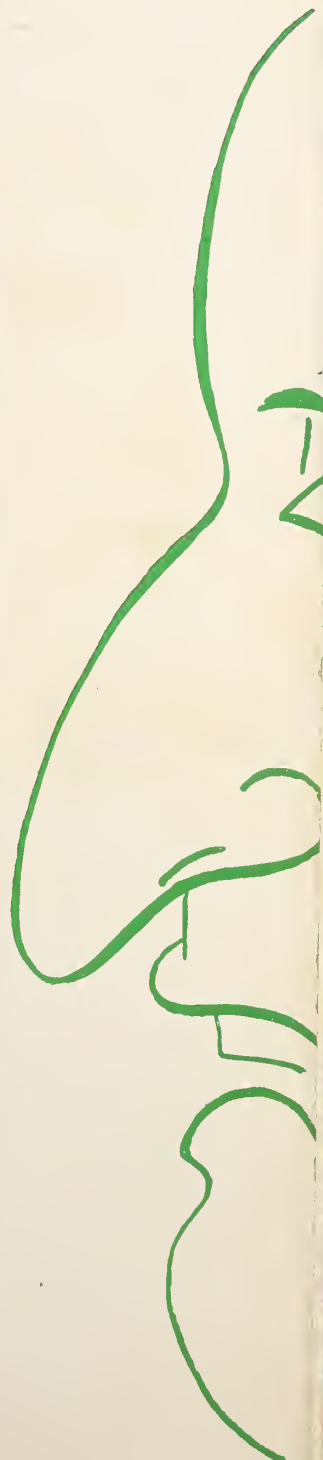

During the past year the students and faculty of Cary High, perhaps without realizing it, have played a part in a great drama which is a small but important part of a greater drama. The scenes in our play are the scenes in the everyday life of the school. It is doubtful if this drama will ever be recognized as a classic, as it is imperfect in many respects. Some of the scenes did not run smoothly. There were differences among members of the cast. Since our drama had no rehearsals, most of the acting was impromptu. Many students did not realize the important effect the portrayal of their roles in this school-life drama would have on their parts in future productions.

In this drama, as in all dramas, there were stars. These were persons who put the best of themselves and their abilities into their parts. The stars obtained valuable experience because of the interest they showed in the success of the production. Perhaps there were others who showed the same interest and ability but did not receive suitable recognition. Some of these students will have another chance to prove themselves in future productions but some will not, at least while in Cary. However, our drama is only a part of a greater drama and surely these fine students will have many opportunities in other phases of their lives. In spite of the miscues and mistakes, the play was a wonderful success, and the cast of students and the faculty-directors must certainly be proud of their accomplishments.

It has been the privilege of the YRAC staff to record in this book some of the memorable scenes from this great production.

Our Director

The quality of theater presented by secondary schools is a direct reflection of the love of theater of the faculty director. Our beloved Mrs. Marley, impelled by an inner flame of devotion to the dramatic arts and to the students of Cary High School, has presented to the school and community the "best of high school theater." Inspired by her unlimited faith and her own original Scottish symphonic drama, two of her dramatics groups have written and produced historical dramas of their own. We, the Class of '57, dedicate our annual to our loved, admired, and respected director, Mrs. Clare J. Marley.

Setting

One of the most outstanding features of the community of Cary is its high school. The imposing administration building, the modern cafeteria, the gymnasium, and the other familiar buildings provide the setting for this institution of learning. These buildings and the campus about them are the temporary residences of over 1,200 persons for seven hours each day. They have stood quietly, uncomplaining while the busy students hurried back and forth within their walls. The structures have witnessed the joys and sorrows of hundreds of boys and girls. If they could talk, what interesting tales they could relate. Tales of both comedy and tragedy have been played here. As the memory of the little red schoolhouse had remained in the minds of those of a few generations before ours, the memory of these buildings will stand out in our minds; symbols of the intellectual liberties we, as Americans, enjoy.

ADMINISTRATION BUILDING

Erected in 1938, this building is an impressive setting for the drama of our high school life.

MR. P. W. COOPER
District Principal

Mr. Paul W. Cooper, our principal at Cary, is an energetic and hardworking man. He leads a very active work-day life, for he is also the district principal of four other schools in our area. Long known for his work in the educational field, Mr. Cooper is to be highly commended for his outstanding leadership and especially so in our own school. We all join in giving him a hearty "Thank you."

CARL A. MILLS, JR.
Assistant Principal

We are fortunate to have back with us, after a year's absence, Mr. Carl Mills. Mr. Mills is not a stranger to most of us as he taught in Cary in 1954 and 1955. He left Cary in 1956 to take a position as principal of a high school in Colerain, North Carolina. In 1957, he returned to Cary to take the position of assistant principal. In addition to his duties as assistant principal, Mr. Mills teaches math, United States History and driver's education.

Cast

The cast for our drama is made up of the student body of Cary High School and its elementary department. Pictured in this book are the players who took the most important roles.

The youngest members of the cast are the eighth graders. They are in the last stage of the period in which they are readied for the tasks that are to fall upon them when they are given a greater part in our production.

The Freshmen are the next in importance. They are taught the technical background that is essential to the ultimate success of a drama such as ours. The Sophomores are allowed to take bit parts. If they do their parts well they will take another step forward. The Juniors are given positions as understudies and stand-ins for the feature players. The feature players, of course, are the Seniors. The Seniors furnish the leads and the other important players.

The fine cast has all the talent and potentiality needed to make any drama a brilliant success.

"Elizabeth the Queen," by Maxwell Anderson, was presented by the Senior Class of 1956. Here the entire cast is assembled for curtain calls.

A LOOK INTO THE PAST

That long awaited day has finally arrived. In a few minutes the curtain will go up and we will begin our part in the play of life. In these last few minutes our memories seem to drift back to the year when we first began to prepare for our role in life.

FRIGHTENED FRESHMEN

Our first day at Cary High School! Cautiously we open the door and are completely astonished at the sight before us. The hall is packed with students and each seems to know exactly where he is supposed to go. Here we stand, not knowing what to do. All is not lost, however, the older students very kindly help us locate our rooms.

INEXPERIENCED BUT ENORMOUS

Here we are, one hundred and fifteen inexperienced stagehands. Our four directors, Mrs. Alexander, Mr. Dunham, Mrs. Jordan, and Mrs. Robbins help us off to a good start. Gradually we are becoming accustomed to the policies of the school—and the school to us.

SERIOUS SOPHOMORES

The months seem to fly by and soon we are ready for the second year of instruction. Our directors for this term are Mrs. Mitchell, Mr. Mills, Mrs. Smith, and Mrs. Welch. Now the going is a little easier. Our interests are expanding to the various organizations within the school which help us prepare for the future.

THE THREE PRODUCTIONS

Becoming Stars offers many opportunities but also a great deal of responsibility. We now have the experience necessary for these responsibilities. The Stars sponsor three major productions. In the Spring, every Star's mind turns to thoughts of the educational trip to Washington and New York City. The appearance of the YRAC, a memorable yearbook which will be treasured in the years to come, is eagerly awaited by the entire student body in the late Spring. Under the capable direction of Mrs. Clare J. Marley, the Dramatics group presents "The Robe" as its third and last major production of the year.

Beings in high spirits and an extremely happy frame of mind I do hereby write you this little note as a small token of my appreciation for all the things you have done for me. The greatest being your friendship. At the first of my senior year I was a quiet, red-blooded squealer but in the course of a few months I was befriended by a bunch of nice people of which you were one. I can't begin to tell you how much fun I have had this year, but I will never forget the wonderful times we have had together. "I tell you true" that the trip to New York was the beginning of a new life for me. I will never forget our tub that night in New York after we had our counted change change to kill a horse or the wonderful night after play practice when we "counted change" at Johnny's. If I live to be a hundred and one I'll never forget that night at Johnny's. I thought you were serious but the way you thought about it the silly it got. I'll tell you tree that I've never had more fun in my life than when I was with you and the other of fine young people who were as it appears to me, you can't be a man, you can't be a woman, you can't be a thing. I wish you to be the best of luck in everything. As you said you are the Best of Luck from your faithful friend King Peter, your friend etc, etc, etc, etc, etc, etc, etc, etc.

CHRISTMAS CARDS IN SEPTEMBER

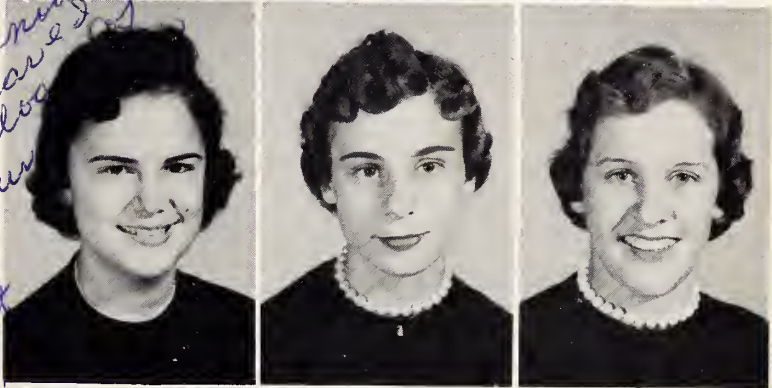

The Juniors feel, the "early bird gets the loot" so we begin our campaign for funds as soon as possible in September. Selling Christmas cards all over Cary and the surrounding communities. Athletic activities in Cary always draw many people and these people are always hungry. With the aid of willing Juniors who contribute food, time, and energy, the spectators are well fed with frankfurters, soft drinks, coffee, etc., and the Junior Class pocketbook is well filled with money. Act I Plot

Classroom activities are considered the basis for an education. The classroom activities at Cary are many and varied. Whatever the field of interest—art, music, dramatics, or literature—students have opportunities to display their talents and ability of self-expression in one or more of these groups. The results of their efforts can be seen in the projects and productions which bring satisfaction to all who participate.

There is one classroom activity that is also a highlight of every year; the Senior Play which is directed by the dramatics instructor. The entire production is put on by the dramatics students and the better part of the second semester is spent on it. Other activities and projects are enjoyed equally as well as the Senior Play and the interest of the students is broadened immensely by them.

A tense moment in "Atahualpa, The Last of the Incas," a symphonic drama of the history of the Incas, written and produced communally by the Senior Class of 1952 under the direction of Clare Johnson Marley.

ENGLISH DEPARTMENT

The English curriculum consists of those courses, activities, and units of instruction designed to develop the communication skills of reading, writing, listening, and speaking of value to all of us in our personal, social, and occupational life. The department places particular stress on accuracy and comprehension in reading, vocabulary development, clarity and fluency in speaking, and correctness, logical arrangement, and distinctive power in writing.

Our English faculty, realizing that they are teaching people, not merely English, make every effort to help us develop "social character." By acquainting ourselves with the great literary giants of our time and of times past, we develop personal satisfaction in reading. Through creative expression, dramatization, and the products of the stage, screen, radio, and television, English helps to enrich life generally.

A punctuation project is completed by Joyce McCoy and Barbara Wells.

MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

What greater training for the human mind can there be than this, the greatest of all sciences, the science of mathematics? Math is the mainstay of the world as it exists today. Many and varied are the uses of the math in our everyday life. From the time we awake in the morning until we go to sleep at night, and even while we sleep, math is constantly at work; keeping us comfortable in varying degrees of climate, helping us to dress, keeping us well, moving us around on the face of the earth, through its oceans, and many more wonderful things so well known to all of us but so often taken for granted.

SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Our Science Department has three instructors, Mrs. Rigdon, Mrs. Rood, and Mr. Sipp. General Science, a Freshman course, which is an introduction to all sciences, is taught by Mr. Sipp. Biology, which is a required course for all Sophomores, is taught by Mrs. Rigdon. For those people interested in broadening their scientific knowledge, Chemistry and Physics are taught to pin point their special field of interest. These two courses are taught by Mrs. Rood.

SOCIAL SCIENCE DEPARTMENT

Our social sciences give us an insight into past and present civilizations and governments. By learning which civilizations succeeded and failed and why, we learn which methods of government are most likely to succeed, and the ones most likely to fail. Without the knowledge gained from social sciences how could we govern and control the Atomic Civilization of tomorrow? We can and we shall do the job of running this revolving sphere we call earth and though it may seem to be spinning on a pin point we shall endeavor to keep it balanced with the helping hand given us by social sciences.

The agriculture department strives to instruct all young boys interested in farming in the fine points of the rural life. The agriculture instructor uses audio-visual aids as well as verbal instruction in the classroom.

LANGUAGES

LATIN

Many students are surprised, and pleasantly so, when they find that the study of another language influences their progress in English to a great extent, for our own language contains many words derived from other languages. Because of the many words of derivation from Latin in our own written and spoken English, students who study Latin oftimes have a better command of the English language than those who do not.

SPANISH

Just south of the border or even in a Pharmacist's laboratory our foreign language students would feel right at home; for in our Spanish classes the pupils are taught to develop a fluency in this interesting and informative language.

The facts and fun of life, permanently recorded in book, pamphlet and film form—that is what the library strives to provide both students and faculty. Our aim is to establish a resource center that will give competent service to all members of the school for informational, inspirational and recreational needs.

Act II Highlights

Our directors at Cary recognize the importance of out-of-class activities in the growth of the students. As a result, we enjoy a wide range of social and recreational activities. We have a chance to display our talents and versatility by participating in the various activities.

Of the numerous clubs and organizations, the Student Council, which is the student government, has the largest number of participants. The entire student body takes part in its activities.

In addition to the Student Council, there is a variety of service, interest, and honorary organizations with which the student can affiliate himself. These clubs provide learning experiences that will broaden the cultural horizon of the individual.

Dances are perhaps the most popular of the after-school activities. Hardly a month goes by in which there is not at least one dance held at the school or elsewhere in the community. Two dances are traditional: the Homecoming Dance, and the Junior-Senior Banquet and Prom.

STUDENT COUNCIL OFFICERS

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council of Cary High School is one of the hardest working organizations of the school. Two representatives are chosen from each homeroom. The student body elects the officers, and the officers in turn elect the committees. The council began its activities under the direction of its new sponsor, Miss Rice. The main project of the Student Council this year has been SCREC. This is available for all high school students during lunch period each day.

The old cafeteria, or SCREC Room, as it is now called, is equipped with records, a record player, games and cards, all of which were loaned or given to the Student Council. This year the Student Council also aided in the Hgielar Teen Club membership drive. A clean-up week, when walls and woodwork throughout the school were cleaned by volunteers from the study halls, was another successful project. The Citizen-of-the-Month elections have been continued this year, and homeroom representatives have been responsible for the collection of cleaning tickets for the Athletic Fund.

OFFICE STAFF

The Office Staff of Cary High School is well organized and gives to our administrative executives, faculty, and student body, prompt, efficient, and cordial service. The duties of the staff include receiving guests and patrons, carrying notices, answering phone calls, running official errands from building to building, filing records, typing, operating adding machines, collecting daily absences from the teachers and listing for office-desk record, and innumerable other important duties. The Office Staff is a popular group throughout the school, for their service is given willingly to all, and all deeply appreciate this service.

BUS DRIVERS

The Cary High School Bus Association, under the leadership of chairman Don Wells, endeavors to give the best transportation service possible to the students of Cary High and the surrounding county schools by (1) keeping the buses clean and sanitary for the pupil's use; (2) strict enforcement of all safety laws; and (3) bestowing a great amount of courtesy upon students and parents alike.

AUDIO-VISUAL CLUB

The Audio Visual Club at Cary is one of the most helpful organizations in the school. The boys in the club are trained in the correct usage of the movie projectors, and there is always one on hand to show the educational and entertaining films to the students. Those films, provided by the county, are helping in a big way to educate the future citizens of tomorrow, because "to see is to know."

DISTRIBUTIVE EDUCATION CLUB

The Distributive Education Club strives to give students additional instruction in the fundamental principles and practices in the field of distribution. Through films, guest speakers, and attendance at state and district meetings, the D.E. students gain further knowledge in the field of distribution and meet others with the same interest.

Los Alegros is designed to give students additional opportunities to pursue the cultural aspects of Spanish speaking people. Activities participated in included a Spanish Supper, a Christmas fiesta, complete with pinata, Pan American assemblies, and speakers on Spanish subjects. These activities have increased our interest in the Spanish people, customs, and language.

MONOGRAM CLUB

The Monogram Club got off to an early start this year, with the first meeting to elect officers. The projects this year were very successful and rewarding. With the profit from sponsoring the sale of tickets to the East-West Bowl Game, the club purchased a pop-corn machine for the basketball games. Jackets for the seniors who participated in athletics during the school year were also a project of the club.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Future Teachers of America is an organization for those interested in the teaching profession. Mrs. Smith, the sponsor, was instrumental in the organization of the club. Through its activities, the club members learn the advantages and disadvantages of teaching. They get actual experience by teaching in the absence of the teachers. This is the chief service project of the club.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

The Cary Future Homemakers of America is a non-profit organization sponsored by the Home Economics Service of the United States. Goals of the F.H.A. include the development of better home and family life, further interest in home economics, and promotion of a growing appreciation of the joys and satisfactions of homemaking, as can be seen in their motto, "Toward New Horizons." The Cary F.H.A. held a District Rally in October and the State Convention in April. Projects included the sale of twirlers at football games, sponsorship of the Sweetheart Ball, selling Christmas paper, and a picnic at Pullen Park.

FUTURE FARMERS OF AMERICA

The Future Farmers of America is made up of boys enrolled in Vocational Agriculture. Since the Cary community is not a farming community, the Cary Chapter has a nursery for its project. The boys learn how to propagate shrubs. After the shrubs are large enough, they sell them and help build up the chapter treasury. A Father and Son Banquet is held each year and is given from proceeds of the chapter treasury. That is one project everyone enjoys. Up until the last two years, the Cary Chapter has been very successful in winning contests. Although they haven't been very successful in the past two, they are looking for banners this year. Remember the saying, "Without the farmer, the people won't survive."

LIBRARY STAFF

The Cary School Library Club is a voluntary extracurricular activity, the duties and activities of which are carried on during study hall hours. The library assistants are selected on the basis of interest in books and reading, and the desire to perform worthwhile services for the schools library. By serving as assistants the students gain experience in library work and increase their ability to get along with people. Satisfaction is gained for there is much pride in feeling that you have brought pleasure to someone by placing a good book in his hand or by helping him find material for an assignment.

BULLETIN BOARD COMMITTEE

We are very proud of the bulletin boards in the library. All year long they bloom with striking displays done by committees composed of students who are interested in art and volunteer their services.

PHYSIMETRY CLUB

Under the leadership of Mrs. H. W. Rood, the Science Club of Cary High School was reorganized this year. Its name, Physimetry, was derived from the two sciences, physics and chemistry. The club's aims are to encourage interest in and knowledge of science, to learn to perfect skills in science, and to understand its importance in our lives. The club sponsors the Science Fairs and encourages participation in them.

THE BETA CLUB

The Beta Club is an organization based on the achievement, character, and leadership of its members. It is one to which juniors and seniors may belong—if they maintain a certain standard. Each individual member is encouraged to do his best academically and morally, and to strive to make himself a real asset to his school and community. Each year the Beta Club sponsors a project which will be of service to the school—Last year the club presented the school with a new flag.

YRAC STAFF AND SPONSOR

The YRAC staff has endeavored to preserve in the memory of the pupils and friends of Cary High, by means of a complete year-book, the events of the school year—1956-1957. Without the aid of our energetic, hardworking, and self-sacrificing sponsor, Mrs. Edna C. Lorenz, we would have accomplished nothing. Through her untiring efforts and her helping hand, we at last succeeded in creating what we thought to be an annual that is a credit to us, and our school. She was our captain, we were her crew, without her leadership, the ocean of time would have washed the deck of our ship, YRAC, clean of all the traces of our labor and our efforts would have been for naught.

Dressed in their smart green and white uniforms, the band presented striking formations at all home football games and also at a few away games.

Who adds the color and sparkle to the band performance? The majorettes and their mascot, of course! But in order to give these dances and routines, which they compose themselves, the majorettes practice faithfully. During football season they have practice sessions every day, and for the remainder of the year, twice a week. Sometimes lessons are taken during the summer. The majorettes represent Cary at the Raleigh Christmas Parade and at the Azalea Festival in Wilmington. They also gave two dance routines for entertainment at the Cary Lion's Club Banquet.

Sweetheart Ball, Basketball Queen of the Sock Hop, and King and Queen of the Junior-Senior Dinner Dance, who lead off the first dance. These social highlights hold treasured memories for most of us and have become an integral part of our extracurricular activities.

Stalwarts

Athletic contests and friendly rivalry with neighboring schools is enjoyed by all of us here at Cary High and they play an important role in our activities. The destinies of our football, basketball, and baseball teams have been guided this year by our young coach, Charles Yelverton with assistance from John Sipp, who is also girls' basketball coach. In addition to these three major sports, an athletic program has been devised for the students who could not make the teams. Cheerleading and intramural basketball games provide outlets for the energies of these students. Those active in sports were not the only ones who enjoyed them; hundreds of fans from Cary and other communities watched the teams perform.

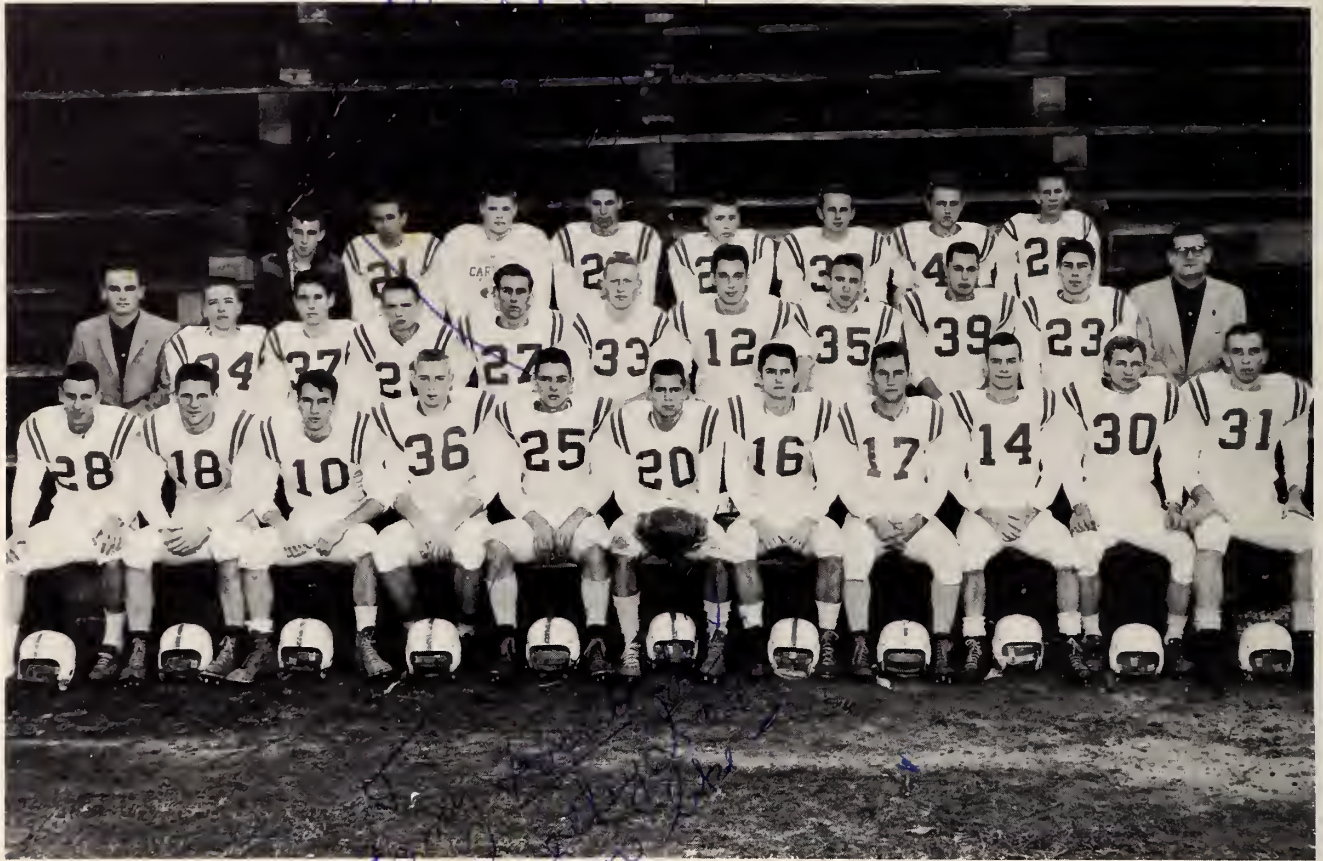

Due to increased enrollment, Cary has been placed in a new conference. Therefore, we have competed against quite a few schools this year whom we have not been privileged to meet in preceding years.

As we return from summer vacation, the first thing we think of is football. We see the boys beginning practice, then we start to feel the spirit that the football athletes in a high school produce.

Friday nights, the crowds gather to see the games. Win or lose, the game is enjoyed by all. The crowds begin to yell for their team. The advancing of both teams up and down the field produces an atmosphere of strong enthusiasm, yet everyone realizes the importance of good sportsmanship.

COACH
 CHARLES YELVERTON

With the toss-up of the leather sphere the basketball season is on at Cary High. Our brave knights charge forward to do battle with the opposing team. Like the knights of old, who felt it their duty to rescue poor maidens in distress, our stalwart battlers also feel it their duty to rescue the ball from the clutches of the other team. Our lookout, the center, leads our green and white clad warriors, in a daring attack on the forces of the opposing team. In and out, around and about, our men are darting backward and forward, trying to catch the enemy off guard so that they may gain ground in the form of points. In these contests our men sometimes taste the sweet ambrosia of victory, sometimes the bitter gall of defeat; but always they remember that win or lose, to play with true sportsmanship is the most important thing.

Did he make the shot? Yes, Pate was great in the Garner game.

The girls' basketball team has done exceptionally well this year. Although the wins have not been as many as we would have liked, the record shows that we have improved a great deal. We hope that in the following years we will have as much drive and spirit as the team of 1956-57.

FOOTBALL HIGHLIGHTS

As Cary reaches the end of an exciting season in football, we look back over the games we played and the three victories that we accomplished. Our first win was over Southern Durham with a score of 6-0. This win was brought about by the excellent work of our quarterback, Billy Jones.

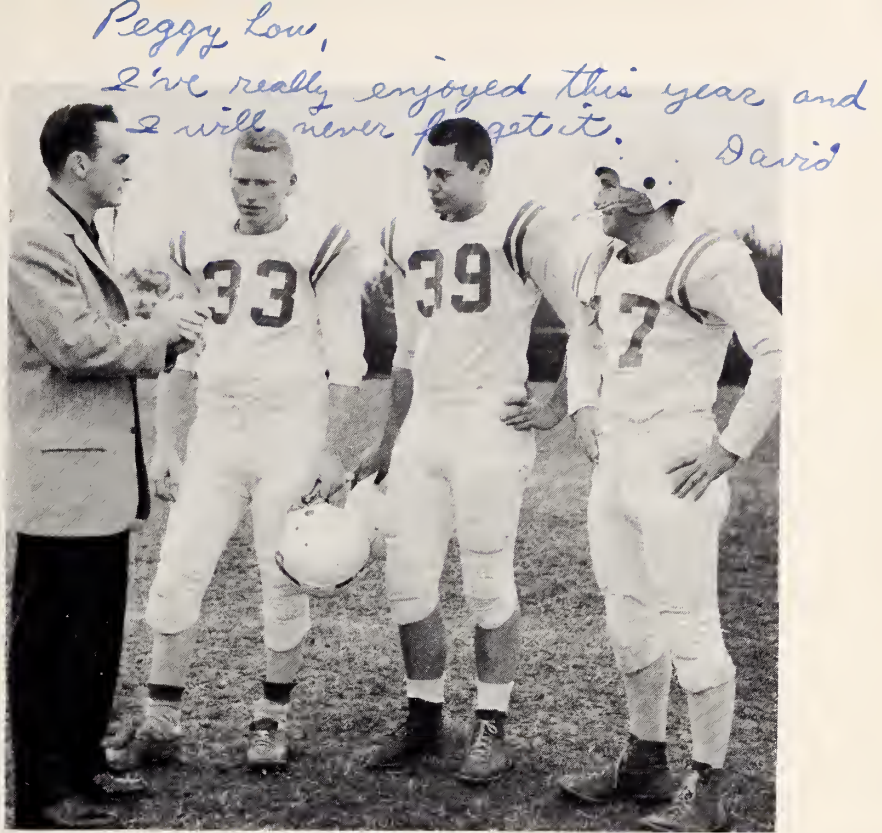

Then came the Fuquay game with Cary outplaying them 20-0. This was accomplished by the outstanding playing of the whole team.

The last game was with Apex, the final score being 21-0.

Coach Charles Yelverton and his 29 boys should be congratulated for their fine sportsmanship and courage.

Jones dives on ball in practice demonstration.

Coach Charles Yelverton confers with tri-captains John Baucom, David Cooper, and Don Wells about details of the coming game.

CHEERLEADERS

Peggy Heater

Kneeling: Jane Creel, Mascot; Peggy Heater, Head Cheerleader. Standing: Carol Ann Pyles, Peggy Fulghum, Boots Testerman, Joyce Testerman, Beckie Murray, Janet Blackwood, Jackie Stone.

Perhaps the most popular figures in our sports program are our cheerleaders. These girls attend each game and urge our boys and girls on to victory. However, when our girls or boys are losing, our cheerleaders are ready to fulfill their duty of cheering the down-cast and lifting the spirits of our town people, schoolmates, and most of all, of our team.

At football, basketball, and baseball games the ever cheerful face and winning smile of the cheerleader helps begin the game by leading the fans in cheers, thus letting our team know that the school and the people of Cary are giving their full support and are behind it. A team knowing this can really put its best into the game and know that no matter the result, it is still the victor in the eyes of the fans.

Janet Blackwood—"Let's give a yell for the Cary team."

Boots Testerman—"Let's go-o-o-o, Cary."

BASEBALL

As the winter scene comes to a close, we turn our thoughts to the greatest American pastime—baseball. Here at Cary there is a great deal of enthusiasm about this sport. Townfolk, teachers, and parents, and students turn out to support their team. Our baseball record at Cary has been very good in the past and the team has hopes of even bettering the record. There are eight returning lettermen who will lead the way. This bunch of boys hope to carry on the high athletic standing of Cary.

The team will be under the leadership of Coach Charles Yelverton who played second base for the University of North Carolina. The boys have a great deal of confidence in him and are looking forward to working with him.

The YRAC staff could not have published this book without the financial support of the businessmen of our own and surrounding communities. Our students frequent the local stores and spend their hard-earned money for everything from cokes to automobiles. In return the businessmen back us through attendance at school functions, payment of taxes, and support of our athletic teams. The fact that they are represented in this book shows that they are interested in our school and in what we are doing. We are sure that these advertisements will serve their purpose well and work for the good of the kind sponsors who have cooperated with us so enthusiastically. We are proud of them and we herewith tip our hats and say, "Thanks a million."

Dear Peggy Lou,
 Well it has been twelve short years together and we are finally on the last go around. I'll never forget that first day of school when you fell down the sliding board. It seems that from that day we have been friends.

Peggy Lou, it has been so nice to be able to confide in you with all my troubles. Peggy Lou will such a bubbling personality you will surely go far in life. It's hard to believe that we're just about through with school.

Let's don't forget the good times we have had together this year, the New York trip was just tops!! and play practices and annual staff meetings. I really can't get everything I want to say in this place but you know what I think of you.

I'm sure you will go far in life, be good and may God bless you in everything you undertake to do.

Love,
 Betty

Dear Peggy,
 I hardly know where to start. All together were our years and it seems as if I ruined everything by leaving Cary. I'll always remember our good times cheering and etc. Stay as sweet and cute as you are always, and the world will be at your fingertips. I wish you all the success in the future.

Love,
 Sue C. Beal

Peggy, it has been fun being in school with you and bumping my head on your locker!

I have enjoyed very much the friendship that we have had since the 8th grade. Remember the devil we used to raise & Mr. Morley would try to get mad. Old Butch was in there too but he didn't get around too much - But, when he started the buttons fell out - after the 8th grade we weren't or good friend as we should have been, or rather I wished we were - Then through the course of years to the 10th grade in Biology. Remember sunset at the table behind Bob and I - we had much fun cutting frogs & mess - & the time we went on the natural tour to Raymond Pond - & I carried you across the mud hole - then you had to run back to meet Chris but that was when you were waggled up - Then last year when we went to the beach so many times with good ole Floyd - we had a marvelous time & I will never forget it - Then getting things started the year - it seemed to have started off with a bang I guess it first started when we were in dramatic society - & we would all-way - skip the shit & go back stage - but finally we had to give up - Then we get together some 8th period, do study hall, or I would come to the office -

Peggy -
I don't really know we're to begin. There is not enough words to say what we have here and had fun doing. I will never forget as long as I live. I want to forget the rights that we play practice and the fun we had. I remember that night of the Athletic Banquet (you know who) went out to the park and had so much fun off of King Peter. I will always the night of the Athletic Banquet I want to forget and what happens.
I am sorry for what I did, but you know
I shouldn't say this, but it is the way I feel.
I promised you that it wouldn't feel.
I think a lot of you, I guess I am that I am crazy like you. I will never
I got a kick out of it.

it's just for fun.
I hope you won't either. I am
I appreciate what you did, and I happen again, but I guess it's because I am forget you and the crazy things that you did, that I remember me in what ever you do in life.

I hope we can get together this summer and memories, if you don't work all the time.
